

Michael Pacholarz

Homework 5b

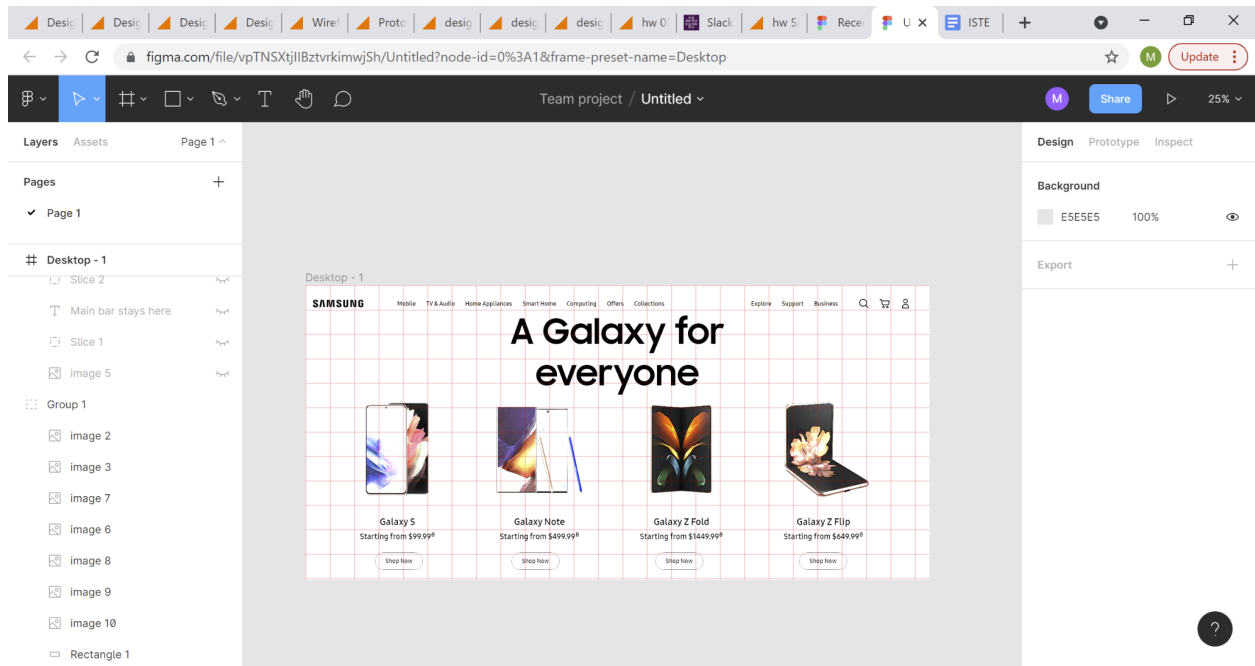

Original website:

Wireframing:

Redesigned:

Analysis:

From the original page to the redesigned page, a lot has changed. However, one thing hasn't: the main bar at the top of the page to bring you to the other pages on the website. I have also not changed the consistent white background theme, with the contrasting black text. The font and style of the text also did not change. What has changed is the entirety of the contents of the page. Because this page on the website is intended to sell their phones I removed the block of text, but kept the title and moved it higher on the page. Then I took some of their highlighted phones lower on the page and brought them to the top. This was in my opinion a better layout for a page that would want to sell the phone by presenting multiple options immediately.

Figma link:

<https://www.figma.com/file/vpTNSXtjIIBztvrkimwjSh/Pacholarz-Homework-5?node-id=0%3A1>